ON the occasion of the seventh anniversary of the Victim Information, Sensitisation, Welfare and Assistance Society (VISWAS), an NGO for the welfare of child abuse victims, a souvenir containing the activities they have undertaken in the past years was released here on Wednesday.

The book was released by V N Rajan, former IG and the chief patron of VISWAS. The stalwart handed over a copy to former High Court judge Justice Chettur Sankaran Nair.

Speaking on the occasion, Justice Nair said that various endeavours of VISWAS, including the construction of 19 houses for flood victims and the provision of food for underprivileged persons who come to various courts and offices in the civil station, were models worth emulating. VISWAS vice president Adv S Shanthadevi presided.
